When launched, users of TikTok had the option of sharing their videos through a collection of other social media apps including Twitter, Facebook, Line, WhatsApp and Instagram among others. This feature was removed in February 2021 and has been retired.",

In an article published on The Guardian, it was alleged that "The confusion over terms and conditions had left parents confused about what they had agreed to when they downloaded the app. Now TikTok is in hot water again, this time because of some alarming content reported by a user." This article stated that "A 15-year-old girl in London has been banned from TikTok after she posted videos of herself being pranked while in her mother's bathroom. Her videos were reported as inappropriate, meaning the app has now blocked her from posting on it." This article was published on The Guardian.",

The app has a pleasant and entertaining interface, which is very user-friendly. The app is available for both iOS and Android devices. In the past few months, this app has become very famous because of its ability to create short videos within seconds without much effort and time. TikTok does not require the downloading of special iPhone/iPad or Android applications as it runs on YouTube's API which is available only for iOS users.",

In February 2021, it was revealed that TikTok had reached a deal with Chinese search engine Baidu to launch a new feature called "Selfie Scoring". The photo filter feature is activated by users pressing the "Camera" button on their app which takes a selfie photo and gives immediate feedback for the degree of fidelity to the typical ideal body ideal presented by research studies while also using facial recognition technology to rate how well or poorly they met this criteria. These ratings are accompanied by a star rating on the app's interface itself and can be seen through each user's account page on TikTok's website.",

In an article published by TechCrunch, it was alleged that "TikTok, one of the world's most popular apps, is slowly turning into a massive source of income for the company. It's not just making money from ads, but also recently started selling ad inventory to advertisers who bought a specific part of its user base." It continued by stating that "It has become so popular in terms of revenue that it is now its own third quarter and second-quarter closing numbers." This article was published on TechCrunch.", TikTok has been compared to other social media and video sharing apps such as Instagram and Snapchat. In fact, the app features a similar way of operation to Snapchat in that users can create videos that contain different drawings, stickers, text, emojis, filters and then share them with their followers.",

The app is available for iOS and Android devices. The app offers videos that users can record themselves, add filters and music and post publicly or privately to the app. Users can also create custom stickers and can accompany their videos with animated emoji called "TikTok" which are meant to express emotions such as laughter or sadness. The company uses artificial intelligence in its video recommendation algorithms to help users find popular videos, allowing them to engage with each other's content as well.", Unlike other popular video editing apps which allow for a user to split their screen into 2 or 3 separate views (left/right), Tiktok shares the same view as the rest of the world, making it easier for users to share content with friends who may not have a smartphone.",

This means that if TikTok were to discover that a user had posted videos on the platform without having paid for it and requested their money back, it would be required by law to comply with the user's request and then turn over at least some of the appropriate funds. This would help ensure that users who post content on TikTok are not acting as scammers as well as potentially avoid issues with law enforcement.",
